

Dear Foster Parents,

I can't believe it is already March. According to the ground-hog, we are getting warmer and an early spring is right around the corner, haha. Much as the cold weather has become challenging, so is the depressing news about the state budget. It is easy to become down and feel hopeless when bad news gets piled on bad news. At some point we must look to the skies and remember that "God is in control". I am not old enough to know what the depression was like, but my grandparents were. What I know is that difficult times and a can do spirit build character and strengthen one's resolve. With so much focus on the almighty dollar and what we are owed, it has a tendency to blind us to what we have. God has promised that He will not push us beyond what we can handle and will not abandon us as His children. Take heart, we have a Great and Awesome God.

As I mentioned earlier, our grandparents and great grandparents experienced far worse than what we see now. It is my prayer that God can use this time in our country to focus not on what we want and think we need, but rather be grateful for what we have and how truly blessed we are.

Challenges do exist and I never want to shy away from them. We must, however, keep in perspective that God is ultimately in control and will use "all things work together for the good of those who love the Lord". We are pressing on and looking forward to what God has for us. I pray you too will be encouraged and know that the work you do with God's children is highly valued in His eyes.

In Christ,

Mark Fullington

Daylight Saving Time—3/13/11

It's almost time to "spring ahead". Did you know that the first time daylight saving time was observed in the United States was in 1918? It was on March 19, 1918.

Why do clocks change at 2:00 a.m.?

The time was originally chosen because it minimized disruption. Most people were home and the fewest trains were running at 2:00 a.m. It is early enough that the entire continental U.S. switches by daybreak and the changeover occurs before most early shift workers and early churchgoers are affected.

May is National Foster Care Month

National Foster Care Month originated in 1988 when the National Foster Parent Association persuaded then Senator Strom Thurmond to introduce a resolution to proclaim May as National Foster Care Month. President George H. W. Bush issued an annual proclamation during each year of his presidency, providing an impetus for state, county & city proclamations. The main focus of these early efforts was appreciation and recognition of the tremendous contributions of foster parents across the nation.

In the 1990's, National Foster Care Month focused more on the needs of older youth, particularly those about to age out of the system. Under the leadership of the National Foster Care Coalition and Casey Family Programs, the campaign became a significant part of the drumbeat that ultimately resulted in the passage of the Chafee Foster Care Independence Act.

National Foster Care Month heightens visibility for the issue and provides a strong outreach and recruitment platform for individuals and organizations working to support children and families throughout the year.

Casey Family Programs continues to lead the effort in partnership with other national organizations that represent well over 250,000 individuals and providers. Today, the campaign spotlights the importance of permanency for the 463,000 children in out-of-home care.
